The Three Amigos

By Mack Burich

This year at camp we had three new campers. Barbie, Senor Queso, and Koopstard. Our three new campers were recommended by the famous Bob R. On Las Vegas night the two cabins pooled their winnings to bid on the bags that the three new campers were in.

For the parents and others that don't know about Bob R. he was a ketchup bottle. The boys won Senor Queso, the girls got Koopstard. Koopstard is a little shy we haven't seen much of him. Senor Queso is not shy at all. He ran off with Barbie Q. So, that's all about our three new campers.

A Baby Visits Camps

By: Katie Hayes

Robbie Hayes celebrated his four month birthday by coming to camp for his first time. He was excited to meet all his mom's friends and all the campers. Everyone enjoyed holding his fingers and playing with him. He was able to try swimming in the lake and listening to songs at the camp fire. His mom was so great full to be able to visit and share her bundle of joy. Despite the challenges of adjusting medications and struggling with pain from her arthritis, it has been an amazing blessing to become a mother. She looks forward to future years when Robbie will join her again.

Being King for a day

By: Jack Mulligan

When you are king for the day, you get to say the prayer for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Then during breakfast, lunch, and dinner you get to pick people to clean the tables. Then after breakfast the king and queen pick two people to help with the flag. Then at the end of dinner the queen and king pick two people to take the flag down. The king and queen also wear a crown from burger King.

Bingo Night

By: Bailie Frederick

During bingo night you can play bingo and win really cool prizes! One year I won shirt, 3 goody bags, and a water ball! Sometime during swimming you can bring the water ball and someone will throw the ball and you jump off the green raft.

Queen for a day

By: Ceci Negri

When I was queen for the day I didn't have to bus my tray. I had to take down the flag and choose my "royal court" to help me take down the flag. It was really just a bk crown with a sticker over it. There was really no difference between that and being a camper.

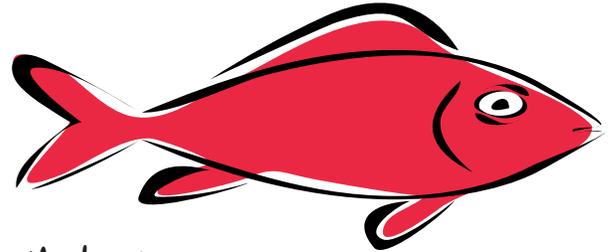

DO WE GET THE ARTHRITIS DISCOUNT

What I like about camp

By: Bailie Frederick

What I like about camp is that I have arthritis and everyone else does to. So, other things I like about camp is everything! You can have beads for every time you take medicine. At the end of the week you can use them to buy things. Other things I like are quite time and swimming in the lake everyday! Everyday you have fishing, arts and crafts, and nature. Come to camp!

Favorite activities at camp 2009

By: Jack Mulligan

We do a lot of fun activities at camp. I'm going to name a couple of them for you. On the first day we had casino night. We played black jack, even or odd, and higher or lower. My favorite game was even or odd. On the second day we played find the counselors, we found half of them. They had good hiding spots. On the third day we played BINGO. On the fourth day we did the water carnival. On the fifth day we watched a movie. On the sixth day we had a talent show. On the seventh day we go home. My favorite activities are bunk group time and quiet time.

My last year as a camper

By: Mack Burich

Being a last year camper is almost the same as every other year. The only difference is that I have to be evaluated by my counselors to see if I can be a C.I.T. (counselor in training). I'm not too worried about passing my evaluation. I think I'm responsible enough to be a C.I.T. The counselors and Del-Ja-Ri staff have to get together and decide if I'm responsible and mature enough to become a counselor in training. I eventually want to become a counselor, but that's not for a while. So that's how being a last year camper (hopefully) is different.

Camp this year

By: Ceci Negri

Having there be eight campers instead of eighteen is really different because we use two less cabins. The shower are actually hot. With only eight campers the Gatorade is always purple which sorta gets boring. When we play water carnival games there is this bucket with holes drilled in the side and you have to fill the bucket with water. So campers PLEASE COME BACK!!!!

The Joyride

By Emilie Boyce and Stacey Critzer

Friday started out with two staff members who shared a dream. By nap time on that momentous day, this dream had been realized. What is this dream, you may wonder, and who are those staff members? Well, it had been 10 years in the making and thought up when they were mere CITs- to gain access to a Camp Mack golf cart. We're talking about ourselves, of course- Emilie and Stacey. In our younger, less wise, days- we schemed to acquire one in less than proper ways, but were never able to do it. Now, today as CIT Master and Camp Nurse, we decided to go at this in a more diplomatic way. Emilie, thought, why don't we just ask them? (She had already tried to pay them earlier in the week to no effect and gather information about them from the lifeguards). So, we chose an unsuspecting and kind-looking person... to our surprise, she said, "Sure, take mine, for the next 10 minutes!" Emilie and I took the golf cart for a spin around the cabin circle- shouting honk! Honk! So that everyone could share in our glory. The moral of this story is... never give up on your dreams, and when one way fails.. think of new and different ways to accomplish them! Then you will be as happy as Emilie and I were today.

□ □ □ 2009 were looking fine
□ □ □ By Alisa Hein

Even after 21 years of camp, we can still come up with a list of first "happenings". This year all our campers passed the swim test so we all could swim in the deep end.

for a while it looked like we would have an even amount of boys and girls but in the end the boys beat us and we had more boys than girls.

we had a small camp this year but that did not stop us from having a huge amount of fun, We had a casino night, followed by a counselor hunt, then bingo, capture the flag and movie night.

We went fishing, boating, and swimming and had time for nature and arts and crafts too. In the evening we indulges in snacks around the campfire.

This was also my first year to kayak.

All in all I think we had a good time and we are all looking forward to next year. Hopefully we can recruit some more campers to make camper bigger and better!

Untill next year-

Bob, Barbee, Senor Queso, and Koopstard wish you a happy school year and I wish you much peace and happiness.

Love

Alisa
